Microbiome analysis, including host-microbiome and three way pathogen-host-host microbiome interaction(s), is a fast-growing area of research with significant federal and industrial funding available. If you do research in this area, please register, plan to attend and present a <5 minute overview of your research. Sponsored by SCSBMB & IHII.

Goals of the event:
1. Identify available and needed on-campus resources for microbiome research.
2. Share faculty research results, plans for future research, and identify potential collaborators.
3. Develop a summary document of items 1 and 2.
4. Draft a timeline addressing the way forward.
